Photosynthesis is the process used by plants. They convert light energy into chemical energy